

Some STAAR Genre Structures

Personal narrative

- Write a kernel essay (one sentence per box in the structure) in past tense.
- Detail with thoughtshots, snapshots, dialogue, up to 26 lines.

Short story

- Write a kernel essay (one sentence per box in the structure) in past tense.
- Detail with thoughtshots, snapshots, dialogue, up to 26 lines.

Expository essay (person, place or thing)

- Substitute another adjective for “special,” in the structure above.
- Write a kernel essay (one sentence per box in the structure) in present tense.
- For the opening sentence, use a three-in-one infoshot.
- Detail with compound predicates, items in a series, participial phrases, ba-da-bing sentences, and a rhetorical device or two (like anaphora, anadiplosis, scesis onomaton, enumeratio), up to 26 lines.

Expository essay (idea)

Part 1 and 2:

One feature/another feature OR before/after OR cause/effect OR pick 2 impacts: physical/environmental/financial/social/emotional or pick 2 illustrations: from a book/movie/history

- Write a kernel essay (one sentence per box in the structure) in present tense.
- For the opening sentence, try a three-in-one infoshot.
- Detail with compound predicates, items in a series, participial phrases, ba-da-bing sentences, and a rhetorical device or two (like anaphora, anadiplosis, scesis onomaton, enumeratio), up to 26 lines.

Persuasive essay

- Write a kernel essay (one sentence per box in the structure) in present tense, and some future tense.
- Detail with snapshots, infoshots, compound predicates, items in a series, participial phrases, ba-da-bing sentences, and a rhetorical device or two (like anaphora, anadiplosis, scesis onomaton, enumeratio), up to 26 lines.

Literary analysis

- Write a kernel essay (one sentence per box in the structure) in present tense.
- Detail with quotations from the text, paraphrasings, and explanations of “this means,” and “this shows...” up to 26 lines.